Executive Summary
University of New Mexico

Participation
The mcBEE survey was launched to a total of 5,856 undergraduate students at University of New Mexico (UNM). Students were invited to participate via email using a unique link for each student. The survey was launched on March 26, 2018 and the last reminder was sent on April 4, 2018. Among the eligible 786 students who responded and consented to take the survey, 81% (N=638) completed or partially completed the survey (Figure 1). Only undergraduate students with ages between 18 and 25 are included in this executive summary.

Students had the opportunity to be selected for one of twenty $50 Amazon.com gift cards, twenty-nine $25 Amazon.com gift cards, and Lobo merchandise.

Students were evenly distributed across years in school with slightly more first year participating. More participating students identified as Female (60%), White (67%), and non-Hispanic ethnicity (58%) (Figure 2).

Bystander Training Exposure

Students were provided a list of potential bystander training programs and were asked to indicate whether they had heard of each program. Students who heard of the program were further asked if they had taken the training (once, multiple times, and/or within the year) and how helpful it was.

Of the students who completed the survey, 22% reported receiving no bystander training. As bystander training options were “Choose All That Apply,” students were able to report receiving combinations of programs. Less than one third of students (28%) reported receiving multiple training programs. 57% of students indicated that they received at least one training program since last fall.

Awareness (Heard of It), receipt (Received It), and helpfulness (Helpful) of any university specific training and primary bystander programs at University of New Mexico are listed in Table 2.

Percentages are calculated out of students who completed the survey (N=638); a total of 498 students reported receiving bystander trainings (only selected bystander programs are listed).

Sexual Violence and Dating Violence Experiences

Academic Year 2017-18

For this academic year, reported rates of perpetration involving physically forced sex, sex when the person was unable to consent, and harm or threats of harm to an intimate or dating partner were low (<2%). These rates were also low for those experiencing violence (forced sex: 1%; unable to consent: 2%; harm or threats of harm by an intimate or dating partner: 12%).

Ever Experienced

For seniors, 7% indicated having ever experienced physically forced sex and 8% reported sex while unable to consent. Compared to males, females reported higher rates of experiencing sex while unable to consent (F: 6% vs M: 2%) and physically forced sex (F: 6% vs M: 1%). Only 21 (3%) students identified as transgender, genderqueer or gender non-conforming, or did not provide a gender; within this group rates of sex while unable to consent (14%) were followed by physically forced sex (10%).
